

The 3rd Symposium of International Immunological Memory and Vaccine Forum (IIMVF)

What's Immunological Memory?

October 30 - 31, 2015

Japanisch-Deutsches Zentrum Berlin
Saargemünderstr. 2
14195 Berlin, Germany

Friday, October 30, 2015
9 am - 7 pm

Relation of circulating and resting memory

Andreas Radbruch, Berlin, DE; Federica Sallusto, Bellinzona, CH; Koji Tokoyoda, Berlin, DE

Formation of memory T cells

Derk Amsen, Amsterdam, NL; Andreas Hutloff, Berlin, DE; David R. Withers, Birmingham, GB; Julia K. Polansky, Berlin, DE

What keeps memory cells alive?

Veit R. Buchholz, München, DE; Stephen P. Schoenberger, San Diego, US; Anja E. Hauser, Berlin, DE; Koji Yasutomo, Tokushima, JP

Formation of memory B cells

Daisuke Kitamura, Noda, JP; Claude-Agnès Reynaud, Paris, FR; Tomohiro Kurosaki, Osaka, JP; Michael G. McHeyzer-Williams, La Jolla, US

Pathogenic memory in chronic inflammation

Falk Hiepe, Berlin, DE; Toshinori Nakayama, Chiba, JP; Simon Fillatreau, Berlin, DE

Keynote lecture

Mark J. Shlomchik, Pittsburgh, US

Saturday, October 31, 2015
9 am - 1 pm

Vaccination: a way to generate memory

Ken J. Ishii, Osaka, JP; Stefan H.E. Kaufmann, Berlin, DE; Hiroshi Kiyono, Tokyo, JP; Béhazine Combadière, Paris, FR; Moriya Tsuji, New York, US

Protective memory in infection immunology

Kiyoshi Takeda, Osaka, JP; Stephen J. McSorley, Davis, US; Jun Kunisawa, Osaka, JP; Anna Katharina Simon, Oxford, GB; Fumihiko Ishikawa, Yokohama, JP

Organizing Committee

Koji Tokoyoda
Andreas Radbruch
Toshinori Nakayama

Submit abstracts for poster presentation

Registration and abstract: e-mail to Katrin Moser, moser@drfz.de
by September 5, 2015

Admission free